

Speech From Throne Tells Program for Legislature

quered by the visit of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein. The warm and enthusiastic welcome accorded him by our people was a fine indication of the high regard in which he is held by the citizens of our province.

During the past year my government has attached particular importance to those matters of public administration pertinent to a successful transition from a time to peacetime economy.

In keeping with the importance of our basic industry, agriculture, my government proposes to increase the number of district agriculturalists to assist in meeting the post-war demands confronting the industry. These staff of the district home economists will be further increased and additional services rendered.

Labour Negotiations
Negotiations are under way between the department of agriculture and the dominion department of labour for a continuance of the dominion-provincial farm labour agreement. Plans are being made for the greater utilization of the schools of agriculture in providing more adequate training in agriculture and home economics for the young people of our province.

As a further service to Alberta's important livestock industry my government proposes to establish an animal pathology and nutritional laboratory during the coming year. Provided the necessary material and equipment can be obtained. Those diseases and programs which experience has proven beneficial to agricultural development will be progressively extended. As an important part of its post-war agricultural program my government is working in close cooperation with the federal government. In the matter of the large-scale development of the water resources of the province. Negotiations are in progress to assure the systematic development of irrigation projects and an equitable allocation of costs.

Negotiations are also in progress on the matter of a long-term dominion-provincial program for the conservation of the watershed on the east slope of the Rocky mountains.

The Alberta power commission is conducting a comprehensive survey of the entire field of rural electrification with a view to recommending to the government the most practical steps to ensure the systematic electrification of the rural areas of our province.

More Health Units
In the field of social services, my government fully appreciates the importance of making full-time preventive health services available throughout the province. To this end, additional full-time district health units will be established rapidly qualified personnel can be obtained. To fill vacancies in existing district health units and to staff the new units to be established, a training school will be opened to provide facilities for field training of physicians, public health nurses and sanitary inspectors. To assist in relieving the present acute shortage of personnel in hospital staffs, legislation will be introduced providing for the training of nurse aides. To assist in meeting the increased operating costs, my government proposes to increase the amount of its per diem hospital grants.

A Red Cross blood donor service for Alberta will be instituted in agreement with the Canadian Red Cross society. Laboratory space for and Great Waterways bonds at substantially reduced rates of interest. Legislation for this purpose will be introduced during the session. During the coming year, my government proposes to undertake a comprehensive survey of the entire field of provincial and municipal taxation with a view to eliminating, as far as possible, the inequities which have developed within the existing provincial and municipal tax structure and also for the purpose of simplifying existing methods of tax levying and tax collection.

In the matter of dominion-provincial fiscal arrangements, my government will recommend to the province under the present agreement, will make it possible for my government to provide some measure of relief from existing provincial taxation. To this end, you will be asked to approve legislation abolishing the present provincial social service tax, effective upon the successful consummation of the proposed tax transfer agreement.

While the interim tax transfer agreement will temporarily improve the revenue position of the province, my government does not regard it as a solution to the important problem of dominion-provincial fiscal relations. It is, therefore, the intention of my government to do everything in the power to assure the continuation of the studies initiated by the dominion-provincial conference to the end that this important problem ultimately will be solved in a manner satisfactory to the dominion and all the provinces.

Will Amend Bill
During this session, certain amendments to the Alberta Bill of Rights act will be submitted for your consideration. My government proposes to appeal to the privy council the finding of the Alberta supreme court with respect to this important legislation. In the meantime and during the tenure of the interim tax transfer agreement, my government will continue to work for the reform of the existing monetary system along those lines necessary to ensure the dominion and provincial governments adequate financial resources to discharge fully their constitutional responsibilities, with the continuation of the present system of excessive taxation and the progressive increase of public debt.

During the session, the special committee appointed by this legislature to consider amendments to the Alberta Bill of Rights act will submit its final report for your consideration. A committee of members of the legislature, appointed to investigate the Hutterite problem in Alberta, will also submit its report during the session.

The public accounts for the past fiscal year, together with the estimates for the coming year will be presented for your most careful consideration. I leave you now to the discharge of your legislative duties, with full confidence that your deliberations under divine guidance will be in the best interests of each and all of our citizens.

No New S.C. Laws To Be Introduced

The Alberta government will not introduce any new types of Social Credit legislation at the present session of the legislature but it will introduce several amendments to Alberta's Bill of Rights, recently declared ultra vires, in part by the Alberta supreme court.

These proposed amendments to the Social Credit legislation passed by the legislature last spring were indicated in the Speech from the Throne read by Chief Justice Hargrave at opening ceremonies of the legislature Thursday afternoon.

The proposed amendments were not detailed. The bill was placed before the Alberta supreme court last fall for a ruling on its validity. The bill contains two sections and the latter was ruled ultra vires. Premier Manning announced the decision would be appealed to the privy council.

It is believed the amendments to the bill forecast Thursday will be based on the reasons stated by the supreme court for disallowing the operative section of the bill.

During the five-year tenure of the dominion-provincial tax transfer agreement, the government, it was stated in the throne speech, will continue to work "for the reform of the existing monetary system."

This reform will be "along those lines necessary to ensure the dominion and provincial governments adequate financial resources to discharge fully their constitutional responsibilities, without the continuation of the present system of excessive taxation and the progressive increase of public debt."

A special committee of the legislature will be appointed, during the session, to review the whole field of workers' compensation in preparation for a revision of the Alberta Workers' Compensation act at the next regular session of the legislature.

A vigorous program, designed to promote tourist trade within the province, has been prepared for the coming year. A comprehensive survey of tourist facilities is being made and tourist camps are being classified in accordance with the type of service they are capable of rendering. A program will be conducted for the promotion of better service in all phases of tourist catering.

During the forthcoming year my government proposes to make a comprehensive study of the whole field of retirement pension plans with a view to submitting to the next regular session of the legislature proposals designed to extend to the citizens of our province generally an opportunity to obtain the benefits of retirement pensions on the most favorable terms possible.

The Alberta treasury branches initiative concluded another successful year's operation and provision will be made for the further expansion of this public service during the coming year.

Debt Settlement
A proposal for the settlement of Alberta's treasury bill indebtedness, on a basis which will substantially decrease the province's public debt and annual debt service charges, will be submitted for your approval. It is proposed to effect a further reduction in debt service charges by refunding the outstanding Alberta

Edmonton's Public Library

The annual report for 1945 of the Edmonton Public Library is an interesting and inspiring account of the work of the library in the past year. It shows a record of achievement in many fields, and a record of the library's contribution to the cultural and educational life of the city.

Liberian Hugh Gourlay describes very aptly the position of the library in Edmonton. He says, "It has become recognized," he says, "as a community information centre where accurate information is made readily available to people who are making things and doing things."

He goes on, "It continues to be a university of the people, offering an opportunity and invitation to continue the learning process after formal school days are over."

These claims are amply true. It is the essential truth of them that establishes the Edmonton Public Library, not only as one of the great libraries of its kind in North America, but as a distinct asset to Edmonton.

In the details of the report it is interesting and significant to note that while the circulation of books shows an increase over the previous year, the figure for 1945 being 385,390 and in 1944 being 382,588, there has been a decline in the circulation of fiction and a substantial increase in the circulation of non-fiction. The work of the library in the past year has been rounded out by activities beyond the circulation of books. The music department, for instance, has even recorded a number of records three times a week throughout the year. It has given classes in music appreciation and generally added to the cultural capacities of Edmonton people in an appreciable way.

The children's department, too, has made a valuable contribution to the life of the city. It is a series of book talks by assistant librarians in the classrooms of the city schools.

It is this makes the Edmonton Public Library a service and accomplishment. Edmonton should be appreciative of this well-conceived institution operated with intelligence and initiative.

Box Cars in Demand

Seven paper mills went out of business because box cars were commandeered to take up slack in the movement of grain. The mills were forced to shift some grain from the prairies to eastern feed-lots. The order had to be modified so that the mills could re-open. The transport controller says he will also do what he can to stop a shortage of containers coming from the industries which would play a part in their production.

It is very interesting evidence of what the war has done to the grain trade. It has brought thousands of people in order collecting points and sea ports in one week. The order had to be modified so that the mills could re-open. The transport controller says he will also do what he can to stop a shortage of containers coming from the industries which would play a part in their production.

Canada's Prices Accepted

Parliament has now before it a draft wheat agreement drawn up by the International Wheat Council. The proposal is that Canada be allowed to export 40 per cent of the estimated world import requirements of 500,000,000 bushels. Dominion exports would then be set at 200,000,000 bushels a year at the moment.

As to prices, it is proposed to accept the Canadian figure, $1.25 minimum and $1.35 per bushel maximum, as the standard for world markets. The minimum represents the least the exporting countries on the Council were willing to accept. The maximum is the price which the United States is thus accepted by the Council as being in line with prospective world prices, Canada's Government and the officials who set them are to be expected to bring long-term prices cannot have been far out in their calculations.

should occur. Argentina, it may be recalled, years ago decided a similar plan to regulate the wheat trade, by dumping more than its export quota on the market and depressing the price.

There can hardly be difference of opinion on the basic question of bringing the wheat trade under some such control. International trade is easy for thousands of farmers—and speculative in western Canada to remember one hectic year when wheat slumped to 20 cents per bushel. Nobody could want that to happen again.

More "Imperialism"!

Admiral Byrd is a man of some courage. And some discernment, it may be assumed. He hoisted the Stars and Stripes over Little America—as had been done before—and wireless the news to the world at large. An explosion of hot language in Moscow could be anticipated, of which Admiral was doubtless aware. Nowhere else was or is the incident likely to cause more than casual interest.

But the Moscow newspapers rate a high percentage of susceptibility in such matters. They are always looking for signs that the United States is trying to plant its flag in far corners of the earth. Here was a rare chance for them to shriek "imperialism." They will likely get by "real" it in the end.

Not that official Moscow is at all concerned in the Antarctic expeditions. It has enough nearer home, but it is not the role of Pravda and the others to discuss what Stalin thinks. Their business is to keep the Red alarm and talking about Russia. They count the day lost when they do not stir up somebody somewhere to say something about the Soviets. Their mission is to provoke publicity. What kind of publicity is a minor matter. What they dread is that people in other countries should think about the Communist Union. And they certainly know their trade of incitement.

These claims are amply true. It is the essential truth of them that establishes the Edmonton Public Library, not only as one of the great libraries of its kind in North America, but as a distinct asset to Edmonton.

In the details of the report it is interesting and significant to note that while the circulation of books shows an increase over the previous year, the figure for 1945 being 385,390 and in 1944 being 382,588, there has been a decline in the circulation of fiction and a substantial increase in the circulation of non-fiction. CANADA'S CELEBRATED

CANDIES

10122 Jasper Avenue
Edmonton

By William Torma, Chicago, former educational director of the Northern States Co-operative Milk Service.

MR. TORMA, a recognized authority on co-operation, spoke on educational methods in co-operative field service.

Delegates were welcomed by Donald Cameron, director of extension for the University of Alberta.

Balance of the morning program featured a panel discussion on field service and membership relations. Participants were W. S. Search, Arthur Smith, Norman Kirkham and Glen Wright.

ALSO DURING the morning session a report on the progress of Alberta co-operatives was delivered by F. J. Fitzpatrick, provincial supervisor of co-operatives.

Scheduled for the afternoon session was an address on Alberta's opportunity in Canada's future agricultural production program by deputy minister of agriculture, O. S. Longman.

The co-operative taxation question will also be discussed Wednesday afternoon by the Hon. J. G. Little, High River, and Mrs. W. A. McIlroy, Chesterville, Ont., and 13 graduates.

FUNERAL SERVICE will be held at 2 p.m. Friday from Andrews-McLaughlin funeral chapel.

The Rev. T. R. Davies will officiate.

Says Strike Cost Is "Exaggerated"

"Just so much eyewash," was the comment of Carl J. Stimpfle, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union, when asked Tuesday morning regarding a statement that the farm produce withholding strike last September cost cream producers an estimated $100,000.

THIS ESTIMATE was reportedly made in an address to the Alberta Dairywomen's convention in Calgary by W. L. Perley, past president of the association. In it Mr. Perley contended that the producers of churning cream should not have been expected to bear the brunt of expense attendant upon the month-long strike.

"He might as well have blamed the strikers for the 45 per cent reduction in hog production of the province in the last two years," said Mr. Stimpfle.

"THERE IS NO question that such a figure is an exaggeration," he continued, "he could use any arbitrary figure but he apparently has no facts upon which to base his estimate," said Mr. Stimpfle.

At the same ADA meeting in Calgary, G. M. Blackstock, chairman of the board of public utilities commissioners, advised fluid milk producers not to go on strike.

TOTALS OF THE LOAN is $35,320 for businesses from beauty parlors to taxi repair shops and grocery stores. Included are also loans for electrical and radio stores, taxis and one greenhouse.

Out-of-work allowances are being paid $80 a week, he said, as compared to the figure of 1,344 one year ago. There is an increase of 38 this week over last week, he said.

Worker Is Jailed In Jobless Fraud

As a result of false declarations made to the Unemployment Insurance Commission at Lethbridge covering days of employment while receiving unemployment insurance benefits, Lawrence J. Duan, who was indicted at Calgary, was sentenced to one month in Fort Saskatchewan jail by Magistrate Chris Patton of Edmonton.

W. STANLEY ROSS, counsel for the crown, pointed out that the Unemployment Insurance Commission rely on the honesty of the applicants in their declarations of employment in order that cash payment may be made to them immediately. He also stated that such cases of false statements are eventually discovered.

As a result of a request by the crown, he was allowed to pay $1,000. Magistrate Patton declared that because such cases reflected on the hundreds of recipients who were making honest declarations as to their days of employment, the Unemployment Insurance Act allows a jail sentence only—there is no option of a fine.

Booklets Planned On Alaska Road

Between 20 and 30 thousand booklets entitled "Facts About the Alaska Highway" and containing accurate, detailed and informative comment on the highway will be printed and distributed by the Edmonton branch, Alberta Motor Association. It was decided Tuesday noon at the club house.

THE MEETING took place of committee meetings and decisions to print the booklets was made by the Alaska highway committee, which Dr. M. A. McIntyre, its chairman.

Considerable discussion took place on material to be included in the booklets. It was decided that travel along the highway this summer will be for restricted traffic only. It is desired that these booklets will go out to travel agencies in the United States, to interest travellers for next year.

Many inquiries have been received by the AMA office, from the United States requesting information on travel, hotel sleeping, gas and oil and food facilities along the highway. The booklets will be sent to those inquiring, as well as to travel agencies shown in the United States this summer.

TRAVEL AGENCIES have been "flooded" with inquiries about the highway, and it was felt that accurate information should be sent them.

Produce Group Names Officers

W. A. Landreth of Winnipeg was elected president of the United Canada Produce Association in balloting last Tuesday for the 1947 board of officers at the annual convention of the association being held in the Macdonald hotel.

MR. LANDRETH succeeded C. C. Holman of Calgary to the presidency, the latter becoming president-elect for 1947.

R. E. Livingston, Vancouver, was elected vice-president with A. Wilson, Moose Jaw, secretary-treasurer.

Committee chairman heading the various divisions of the association were elected as follows:

Executive: Mrs. Landreth; butter and cheese: W. H. Macgregor, Winnipeg; eggs: W. W. Brown, Regina; poultry: H. Butler, Vancouver; transportation: C. C. Holman, Calgary; export: L. S. Carr, Vancouver; budget and finance: R. S. Johnson, Edmonton.

VANCOUVER was selected as the venue of the next annual convention of the association. Wednesday morning delegates were holding conferences with various Dominion and provincial government officials who attended the convention, and bringing resolutions before the convention prior to adjournment.

Chairman of the caucus is James Hartley (SC Macleod) and secretary is William Torma (SC Willingham). Members of the press committee were Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of trade and industry and municipal affairs, M. P. (SC Vegreville) and J. C. Landreth (SC Lethbridge).

Sittings of the caucus were resumed at 2 p.m.

Certificate Sales Bring Govt. $6

Sale of the ill-fated prosperity certificates netted the province $6 in the nine-month period ended Dec. 31, 1946, according to the interim financial statement released Wednesday by Premier Ernest Manning, provincial treasurer.

THESE LITTLE BILLS are sought occasionally by collectors, K. H. Haskins, provincial auditor disclosed, and the treasury department, where there are thousands of certificates locked in a vault, has a few always available for sale at the legislative building.

Some $2,000 of the certificates are still outstanding, it was stated. They are either in the hands of collectors or have been destroyed or lost.

For Adequate School Training

Revision of Studies Urged

Revision of the program of school studies, to take full advantage of the knowledge gained after ten years of experience of the "activity curriculum," was urged by D. T. Oviatt, superintendent of schools at a meeting of the Principals and Vice-Principals Association held in the Civic Club early this week.

THE PUBLIC WILL expect the product of our schools to be adequately trained, Mr. Oviatt pointed out, and the teacher must be prepared to meet the demands of society," he said.

Since the inception of the entire system in Alberta about ten years ago, much has been done and experienced to make imperative a re-evaluation of the principles underlying this method of teaching, and to strive for a greater degree of uniformity of material and methods of teaching.

The teacher must be constantly alert to the demands of society," Mr. Oviatt said, "and the public will expect the product turned out of our schools to have adequate skills and be in possession of the necessary facts and information. The activity program must be checked and evaluated from time to time to remove inadequacies and to add desirable features."

MR. OVIATT DEALT in some detail with a scope and sequence pattern for enterprise activities which could serve as a basis for activity programs in grades one to ten. To insure some continuity of activities and serve as guide for future work in the elementary grades some system of record-keeping must be inaugurated, he said.

NORTH PARTY LAYS NAHANNI GHOSTS

Head Hunters and Spirits Prove Almost Invisible

10 Perished

Here's List Of Victims In Nahanni

Here is a complete and authentic list of the men and women who have disappeared in the area surrounding the South Nahanni River since 1900.

1905—Willie and Frank McLeod, murdered. Their partner, variously known as Green, Wade and Weir, went missing, and was found dead also farther down the river.

1917—Martin Jorgensen. Perished.

1925—Annie Laferle. She disappeared in the Flat River country and an Indian reported he saw her "with a devil in her hand" coming up the side of a hill. She was a mental case.

1928—"Yukon" Fisher's bones found. Probably killed by a bear.

1928—Martin O'Brien found to death.

1936—Bill Epler and Joe Mulholland, trappers who apparently went through the ice trying to reach the mouth of the river.

Besides these ten persons, John Patterson may be missing in the area. He is not to be confused with F. H. Patterson who explored the Flat River in 1933 and is living on Vancouver Island.

There is no assurance that John Patterson was actually in the Nahanni except the word of his partner, Frank Henderson, who arrived in a Fort St. John newspaper office last fall with gold he claimed to have found on the river.

Neither Henderson nor Patterson have been heard of in the Nahanni country.

SUNNY CALIFORNIA — While snowstorms hit a large part of the country, almost blossoms and pretty girls in bathing suits held forth in Southern California. Here Virginia Pyle pins spring blossoms in the hair of Barbara Marrott, both of Los Angeles.

SNOW BIRD — A robin, who either failed to go north in the fall or returned from there prematurely, was seen at a feeding station near River Forest, Ill. Although striped, the bird seemed captive.

EXCLUSIVE

This is the fourteenth in a series of articles presented exclusively by THE EDMONTON BULLETIN from Pierre Berton, who, with other members of The Vancouver Sun's exploration party, has set out to reveal the secrets of the South Nahanni Valley.

By Pierre Berton

VANCOUVER, Feb. 26 — We have laid the ghosts of the Nahanni for once and for all and returned with our heads from the nebulous Headless Valley.

And the strangest thing of all we have discovered about this Headless Valley is that it literally doesn't exist.

You will not find it on any map nor does anybody on the Liard or South Nahanni rivers talk of "Headless Valley."

When we first arrived there, the trappers and prospectors themselves didn't know quite where Headless Valley was.

They had only heard about it on the radio.

Not a Valley at All

For Headless Valley is not a valley at all. The area the general public has nicknamed Headless Valley is in reality a 200-mile stretch of mountainous country covering three rivers, several valleys, a dozen assorted creeks, both hot and cold, three canyons and one waterfall.

The events, real and fictional, that are popularly known as the "Yukon" Fisher's bones found, probably killed by a bear.

The second startling thing about Headless Valley is that three of the men who are supposed to have vanished into it have done so nothing.

Two of them are still very much alive.

Claimed Body was Found

Andy Hays, a well-known trapper and prospector, who is popularly supposed to have disappeared in the Nahanni in 1928 is also quite healthy and has become prosperous on Yellowknife gold. He has his head and hopes to keep it.

A THIRD PROSPECTOR, Ollie Holmberg, who is supposed to have been swallowed up in the Nahanni country in 1940, actually disappeared in the South River, more than 150 miles distant.

Only one man has lost his head. His name was Martin Jorgensen, and his headless skeleton was found about 1917 on the Nahanni River, just below the mouth of the Flat. It is believed that Jorgensen had struck it rich some where along the Flat and that he was murdered for his gold, but this has never been established fully.

As a matter of fact it is the Flat River—and not the Nahanni—that is the centre of much of the tragedy attributed to Headless Valley.

The McLeod brothers discovered gold somewhere on the Flat (perhaps on Bennett Creek) in 1905 and were murdered for their gold by "Yukon" Fisher, who used to produce pokes of coarse gold at Poole's trading post across the divide on the Ross River, was found dead on Bennett Creek, a tributary of the Flat, in 1905.

IT IS POPULARLY supposed that he was murdered, but the twisted tale found in his skeleton indicates that a bear got him.

Paul Powers, whose charred bones were found in his burned cabin on the Flat River in 1931, is probably murdered, but there wasn't enough evidence left in the ashes to prove it.

The man who can take the credit—or the blame—for much of the Nahanni legend is Philip Goddel FRGS, a former Hudson Bay man, and author of several books on the north.

Goddel wrote a lurid tale called "Dead Men's Gold" for "Hearst and Gold," the ICHP annual, which later appeared in his book, "The Monuments of the Alaska Highway," published in 1944.

A DOUBLE HANDFUL of free-lance writers have cheerfully rewritten this highly lurid, highly colored tale and spread the story of the mysterious Shangri-la in the north, each with his own personal embellishment.

Goddel's main fault—outside of the obvious one of exaggeration—is that he has collected every conceivable tale about the Nahanni area and deposited the whole works into one valley.

Waterfalls, canyons, tropical foliage, hot springs, head hunters, elf-dwellers, prehistoric beasts and what-have-you, as well as a variety of headless skeletons, have all been crammed cheek by jowl into this over-crowded vale.

TROPICAL VALLEY — If you call a handful of hot springs a tropical valley, okay, but personally I kept my parks on.

MYSTERIOUS MISTS — Art Jones, Sun Staff photographer, took a couple of dozen pictures from our plane showing the valley of the Nahanni, and no mist in his way. I saw a wisp of vapor coming off the hot springs but didn't look very mysterious.

WAILING WINDS — They will

We have laid the ghosts of the Nahanni for once and for all and returned with our heads from the nebulous Headless Valley.

Cabins There

Trail of '98 Runs Through Nahanni Area

The trail of '98 runs up the South Nahanni River and through the heart of the "Headless Valley" area.

The cabins and diggings of the Klondikers who travelled to the Klondike goldfields in 1898, are still to be seen on portions of the Nahanni and Liard rivers.

These were the Klondikers who reached the Yukon from the spackhead river area on coming up the Liard to the Nahanni, up the Nahanni to its headwaters then across the divide and these down the Polly River to the Yukon.

Their trail is marked by the "Yukon" cabins they built and by their graves. Yukon cabins of that date were built hastily of vertical logs, rather than the horizontal logs of the Yukon.

Some old Klondikers' diggings are still present on the Nahanni river, where the murdered McLeod brothers are commonly believed to have discovered gold.

Farther down the Liard, for years the coffin of a "98er" could be seen protruding from the bank of the river. It finally toppled into the main stream.

New Atom Bomb 'Cloud' Death Over Vast Areas

By Harold W. Blakeslee
NEW YORK, (AP)—A hypothetical atomic bomb that could endanger the entire United States by its radioactive cloud blanketing the country is described by Edward Teller, noted atomic scientist, in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists of Chicago.

But in an editorial the Bulletin mentions a much more practical bomb that it says would be capable of producing a radioactive cloud which would wipe out all animal and plant life over hundreds of square miles.

Such bombs would destroy 10 square miles, says the editorial, and are as real today as was the Hiroshima bomb, the equivalent of 20,000 tons of T.N.T.

The editorial does not give any details. However, distribution of 10 square miles would not require a bomb unreasonably greater than the Hiroshima bomb that followed the Hiroshima bomb by three days and was officially reported to be possibly twice as powerful.

The radioactive clouds from Hiroshima and Nagasaki were virtually harmless, because they rose to immense heights and dispersed. The editorial does not say how it is proposed to keep one of these clouds close enough to the ground to do great harm to live.

PIONEER MINISTER DIES
CALGARY, (CP)—Rev. John Oberhammer, 79, pioneer minister of the Medicine Hat district, died in hospital here. Mr. Oberhammer had lived in Calgary since his retirement in 1925.

Russia Supported Sweden in 1940

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—The Swedish government declared that Russia, then a non-belligerent, had backed Sweden's hand when she refused during the spring of 1940 to transport Nazi arms to German forces in Norway.

The disclosure was contained in a white paper removing from the secret category Swedish-Norwegian relations during and after the German invasion of Norway on April 9, 1940.

Several hours earlier, the Norwegian government issued a separate white paper saying it had agreed with Sweden's neutrality during the war, but had it been "disappointed" when Sweden refused to give transit to arms intended for the defending Norwegians.

SOVIET ZONE BANS SECT
HAMBURG, (Reuters)—Activity by Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious group has been banned in Plauen, Soviet zone, until further notice because of alleged political agitation. The Russian-controlled Socialist Unity party, the British-controlled German news service said here.

Friedrich Flick, one of five indicted at Nuremberg, Germany, for causing "thousands of deaths and untold suffering" who has been charged with seeking economic domination of Europe. The prosecution is a new step in reuniting German industrial leaders and charging them with war guilt.

55,230 Orientals Total for Canada

By H. E. Hardy
OTTAWA, (AP)—Canada's Chinese population of 34,971 exceeds the Japanese population by 14,938, it was reported in the Commons by Trade Minister MacKinnon.

Altogether there are 55,230 Chinese and Japanese in the Dominion. British Columbia has the edge on all other provinces with 4,750 Japanese and 18,619 Chinese.

Alberta has 2,619 Chinese men, 129 women, 29 children; and 4,144 Japanese.

Says Churches Lax Economic Matters

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—Charles P. Tait, new president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, Tuesday criticized the churches for not being "on the job" in economic matters.

He made the keynote speech at an unprecedented three-day

"national conference on the church and economic life," sponsored by the Federal Council. His audience was about two-thirds laymen, including labor and management leaders.

The conference should suggest to the churches a specific program by which they can help laymen who would like guidance in the application of Christian ethics to their problems of weekly living, said Mr. Tait.
